

CAMPUS VETERANS QUESTIONED ON SIX SUBJECTS IN SURVEY

Six pertinent questions for use in predicting general trends of education among veterans were asked in a survey among returned servicemen yesterday. The survey was conducted in the Co-op, the Library, and the Quad in order to obtain an even distribution of opinion.

The questions and results are as follows: (1) Are you engaged? Eighty per cent answered no.

(2) Are you married? Eighty-five per cent answered no.

(3) If you are married, have you married since going in the service? Seventy-five per cent answered yes.

(4) Are you more serious about making good grades in college now? Eighty-five per cent answered yes.

(5) Are you as interested in school extra curricula activities now as before? Seventy-five per cent answered yes.

(6) Are you planning to do graduate work? Sixty per cent answered yes.

Results of the poll were referred to Dr. Dorothy Hazel-tine Yates, professor of psychology, who stated that she had been particularly interested in veterans as students and the results of the question, "Are you more serious about making good grades in college now?" was self-evident in all of her classes because of the interest they were displaying in their work.

"The veteran has displayed a much more mature point of view, his questions are sound and logical, and generally speaking I feel that he has improved the quality of the classes," Dr. Yates stated. "I believe that the veteran has renewed the feeling of responsibility that teachers should have toward their students and will continue to have a bearing along that line."

When asked why she believed the veteran should have a more intensified interest in school activities, Dr. Yates said, "The veteran has missed a lot of precious living as he would like to live. Now he is utilizing his life to its fullest to get the most out of everything he does, including his studies and his social life. (Continued on page 4)

SPARTAN FROSH COME FROM BEHIND TO WIN 13-8 OVER LAS VEGAS

The San Jose State freshman football team came from behind last night to defeat the Las Vegas Army Airbase 13-8. In one of the most thrilling games seen in Spartan Stadium this year, the Spartans drove 85 yards in the final six minutes of the game to nip the Flyers when fleet-footed Archie Chagonjian drove over tackle for the final two yards.

In the opening quarter the Spartans drove to the Las Vegas 40-yard line only to be stopped by a fumble. After an exchange of punts the Flyers put on a drive that was stopped on the Spartan 10-yard line by a pass interception by Dick Bischoff, defending center for the Spartans.

In the second quarter it was all State. With Archie Chagonjian and Wil Concklin alternating at carrying the ball, the Spartans drove to the Indian 45-yard line. Chagonjian then got away for a beautiful 25-yard romp that placed the ball on the Las Vegas 20-yard line.

Wes Stevenson, substitute quarterback, then shot a short pass to Wil Concklin for a first down on the Indian 15-yard line. Bob Stulman, Spartan fullback drove to the seven yard line an an off-tackle smash. It was then that Wil Concklin, Spartan right half drove over for the initial score from seven yards out. Pete Denevi's attempted conversion was blocked, and the score stood 6-0 S.J.S.

With three minutes to go in the half, Donnie Carroll went back to punt for the Spartans on their own 20-yard line. A bad pass from center sailed over his head, and though Carroll recovered in the

Bids Ready Today For 'Miracle Whirl'

Bids for the Phi Kappa Pi annual autumn formal will be ready today. Those who turn in their receipts at the booth under the Library arch will receive a bid in exchange.

The dance, which is to be held November 3 at the Scottish Rite Temple, will feature a Surrealistic theme which extends even to the name, "Miracle Whirl."

Couples will dance from 9-1 to the music of Buddy King's 17-piece orchestra which is well known around the bay area.

Bids cost $1.75 and the dance will be semi-formal in that the fellows may wear dark suits.

Lois Wendenhall is in charge of the affair while DeLayne Broad-bent and Lorraine Mossbarger are in charge of decorations and entertainment, respectively. Rith Heintz heads the refreshment committee and Doris Bryant is in charge of publicity.

Karnival Is Tomorrow

"You've heard of the atomic bomb, you've heard of penicillin, but have you heard of the Kappa Karnival?" asks Pat Renz, Kappa Karnival chairman. According to Miss Renz, it is the killer-diller, thriller-chiller event of the quarter sponsored by Kappa Kappa Sigma sorority as a benefit for the Health Cottage.

The Karnival will be held tomorrow night in the Men's gymnasium from 8 to 12. Tickets for 14 cents may be bought from any Kappa member or at the ticket booth in the Library arch. Kappa members may be identified by the slings they wear.

BULLETIN!!!!

There will be a rally today at 12:30 in the quad for a preview of Kappa Karnival festivities.

The "Coney Island" theme will predominate during the evening. "Plans are being made for a gala occasion," says Miss Renz. "I promise a good time for all, surpassing even the hilarious Karnivals of the past."

Heading the list to make up an exciting evening is a bathing beauty contest among sororities, a beer garden with Eloise Dettmen playing the accordion throughout the evening, a photo booth, leg toss, milk-bottle throw, fortune telling, and dart throws.

Fraternities will also be represented in the various concessions. Assisting Miss Renz are the following group chairmen: Shirley Everret, food; Betty Jurras, advertising; Jane Barrett, decorating; Claire Canevari, Nancy Lynn and Jewgie Haddock, entertainment; Pat Dunlavy, tickets; Pat Griffin and Ernestine De Ford, concessions; and Jessie Steingal, costumes.

Junior Class Plans Pre-Mixer Pep Party

Junior class members met Tuesday to discuss plans for future class activities.

First event of the quarter will be a pre-mixer pep party under the chairmanship of Jackie Popp. Other committee members are Jean Wolff, food; Jan Haggerty and Dale Bower, games; Carol Freire, entertainment; and Marcella Brokofsky, publicity. The party will be held November 20.

Jinx Postponed For Two Weeks

Again the Sparta football schedule has caused the postponement of the AWA jinx. A game scheduled with Menlo junior college deemed it necessary for the AWA to change the jinx from November 14 to November 28.

"We have great hopes of having a jinx some time this quarter," stated Roberta Ramsey, president, "even if we have to get together some Sunday morning."

The play day with Stanford will be held this Saturday, if it does not rain. Busses have been chartered for women who are participating in the activity and will leave the women's gym at 9 a.m. "There will be enough room for women on the busses who are not participating in the sports but would like to attend as spectators," announces Marge Hopper, chairman.

There will be a meeting in the Women's gym Friday noon for those who are taking part in the play day. The purpose of the meeting is to check out necessary equipment and clothing.

December 5 was decided upon at yesterday's meeting for the AWA Red Cross day. The order of the day will be to sew in the Red Cross room during free hours to be followed by a dinner. To attend the dinner women must spend at least one hour sewing during the day. Phyllis Johnson and Dorothy McCullough will be in charge.

A cabinet meeting will be held Monday noon in the Student Union and all cabinet members are requested by Miss Ramsey to be present.

Frosh-Soph Mixer Nov. 9

The question of freshman-sophomore superiority will be settled at a mixer to be held November 9.

Although sophs have only 410 students to more than one thousand freshman, they already hold a lead of 25 points won in the War Chest drive.

Red Cross sewing will start Monday for the women of both classes and will last through Friday noon, with winners receiving 25 points. Women's activities scheduled for the big day are badminton, and swimming relays.

The men's schedule for the day will include a tug-o-war at 12:15 with the winners receiving 15 points; de-pantsing at 3:15 with 10 points; sand-bag contest, 4 p.m. with 10 points; mixed baseball game, 4:15, 15 points; basketball, 6:30, 10 points; water polo, 7 p.m. with 10 points.

Twenty points will go to the class with the largest attendance at the dance, to be held that evening in the Men's gym from 9 to 12 p.m.

Soph men who wish to participate in any of the activities are to sign-up with Bud Hooten, and women students are to contact Bev Sack.

Doug Romney and Jim Bartolomeoni will take charge of the class rally to be held Thursday, November 8. Romney announces that plans have not been completed for the rally as yet.

LA TORRE REDUCES FACULTY SECTION

Because of many conflicting factors, there will not be a picture of every member of the faculty in the faculty section in the 1946 La Torre. It was decided at a recent meeting of the yearbook staff.

Phyllis McDonald, La Torre editor, gives the following reasons for cutting out the section:

1. Many of the faculty members are so busy that it is almost impossible for them to make definite appointments for the photographs. This has caused considerable trouble in the past.

2. The faculty does not pay for a section in the yearbook, and space will be limited to the same number of pages as last year's annual. Therefore, in all fairness, space should be given to the organizations that pay for it.

3. Many complaints have been received by members of the staff that there were not enough candid and life pictures in last year's La Torre. In order to have space for these pictures, also, one of the sections would have to be cut.

In order to look into the matter more thoroughly, five members of the staff went to the H. S. Crocker stationery company in San Francisco to see the annuals of other colleges. They found that there was no faculty section in almost all of the books of the universities and colleges on the west coast.

It was decided that there will be pictures of the class advisers, deans, and administrators, but no organized section devoted to the entire faculty.

THROUGH OTHER EYES

By DAVE WEBSTER

Well, finally they have done it! We wondered when the situation would come to a head, and when the men from some school would decide the situation had been carried far enough. Back in Barnsboro, Pennsylvania, high school fellows got so fed up with the girls who wear sloppy slacks, (levis) boys' shirts, ties (that's a new one) and sweaters, that they got together and plotted agin' the fair but fad-mad sex. Next day the boys wore their sisters' plaid skirts, their blouses and sloppy joe sweaters, maybe even the junk jewelry and sundry other additions! That put the bobby sock on the other foot, and the girls admitted that they had really learned a lesson.

Thanks to the girl who brought the above to our attention. She must be a loyal sympathizer of the cause.

Dean of Women Helen Dimmick told us the other day of a young man who entered her office and, after looking around, came in and spoke to her. "Could you tell me where this 'Date Book' is and how I go about signing up? You see I haven't any date for the dance tonight."

Another story we heard just recently was the explanation of Dr. Robert Rhodes' initiation as Daddy to the Kappa Kappa Sigma society. Seems that he was invited as the only male guest at a dinner at the Sainte Claire hotel. Sitting at the head of the table, he was engaging in what was undoubtedly a profound conversation with his hostesses, when in from the next room staggered the inevitable drunk. He stood at the foot of the table swaying slightly "Any men here?"

The Kappa's were nonplussed, but several voices directed the inebriate toward the far end of the room where Dr. Rhodes sat. The intruder started toward him, slipping between tables, and laying a hand now and then on a handy chair or something to assist his slightly unsteady advance.

"Say Pop," he confided, as he reached the head of the table and threw an arm about the shoulder of our faculty friend, "Are you the father of all these beautiful women?"

"Doc" played along with what he suspected might be a good gag. "Yep, that's right."

"Y'mean to say that these girls are all yours?"

"That's right!"

"Wot a man!"

We were talking to a friend on the lawn outside the Pub office recently, and looked up to see one of the campus philosophers approaching. "Move over by that tree," he said, "It needs it."

Veterans' Rights?

According to legislation, Veterans of the armed services are supposed to get first choice on surplus Army goods including motor vehicles; however, it has been brought to light that this is not the true story. For instance, several days ago veterans on campus applied for this equipment and were flatly refused. If this be the case, how can the Veterans correct the difficulty?

'Any Veteran has the legal right to petition the Small War Plants Commission, San Francisco, and if this procedure fails, the matter should be taken up with his local Veterans Bureau in San Jose.

This may not be the only infringement on veterans' rights, unless they band together and fight these problems immediately. —J.H.

'You'll Be Sorry'

When June rolls around each year, a certain book starts making the rounds of the campus. It's called La Torre. Groups of students sit in the Co-op and pore over it. Shy young men sigh over their secret heart-throbs pictured within. All in all, it's something all true Spartans look forward to.

Each year at the beginning of the fall quarter, the editor of the yearbook begins making plans. On the first registration day, a booth is set up in the gym for the purpose of taking orders for La Torre. A reduction in price is offered to those who buy their books early, and advertisements are put in the paper—all for the purpose of getting the students to buy their yearbooks early in the year.

Some may wonder why all this work is done so early in the year. There is a purpose behind it, and a very simple one at that. In order that San Jose State may have a bigger and better yearbook, the La Torre staff must know about how many books they will have to print. They must know about how much money they can count on.

It's not necessary to pay all of the money at once. Stop in at the Publications office, and leave a dollar. That will mean you will have a book in June, and you can pay the rest of the money then.

La Torre is something you will want to keep for the days when you're old and gray, and can reminisce about those "good old college days."

Buy it now, or you'll be sor-ry. —I.M.B.

THRUST and PARRY

Dear Thrust and Parry:

A catastrophe has befallen the Social Affairs committee!

We made arrangements to use some decorations which belonged to a campus group. In return we were to let this group use some of our decorations. By doing this we hoped to cut down on the expenses and have a more attractively decorated Gym for the Witch's Waltz last Friday night. But when we arrived at the Gym on Saturday morning to clean up, not only were some of our own decorations missing, but also those that we had borrowed.

Unless we can recover the missing property we will have to reimburse the group for their decorations, and replace our own. Instead of the expenses being reduced as planned, they have increased.

This article is written for a twofold purpose: First, to recover the missing property, and second, to advise the student body that the decorations are the property of the students as a whole and are not intended as souvenirs for individuals.

IN PASSING

By ROWLAND MITCHELL

We were walking home in the fog after a midnight spook show last night, remarking as we went along that on such a night the famous "Ripper" earned his name. Indeed, this Halloween seemed made to order for a London-style murder monster, creeping along through the pea soup, slitting people's throats.

SINISTER ATMOSPHERE

The sinister atmosphere was further heightened by the shrill screams of night birds winging by in the dark, and by the weird gleam from the street lights, casting ominous shadows over all the scene.

So completely in the mood did we get, that soon we found ourselves treading softly on the balls of our feet, peering into every shadow for a leering hatchet man.

NO PRANK

Suddenly, to our dismay, two fog-shrouded figures rose from behind a hedge a short distance ahead of us. Apparently unaware of our approach, they huddled in hasty, whispered counsel, then poised over a still form at their feet. Bright steel flashed in the frail light, there was a muttered epitaph, and one of the creatures straightened up, holding a grim, red object dangling from its hand. No Halloween prank, this!

EVIDENCE

Just then a car turned the corner, catching us full in its headlights. The sinister pair saw us. Muttering low, they gathered their long, dark coats about them and fled off down the street. In their haste, however, they spilled the evidence of their guilt upon the sidewalk. It lay there, crimson in the feeble glare of the street-light.

Walking over to it, I picked it up, then chuckled at the two figures shuffling out of sight in the mist.

Imagine that! Two old ladies out snitching geranium cuttings on Halloween.

Sniff Sniff---Colds Good Neighbor Increase, Catchoo!

The season has opened with the usual increase in colds, according to health office reports. Although it is nothing out of the ordinary, there has been a larger number of students afflicted by the common cold this month than last month.

Miss Margaret Twombly, head of the Health and Hygiene department, suggests that students keep their heads and feet warm and not sit in class with wet rain coats on.

"It's stylish to bundle up at football games this season," declares Miss Twombly.

Very wise too, we might venture to add.

Jose DiHardo, the Argentine student who last spring wrote his greetings to the Daily staff and the students of San Jose State college, has again sent copies of Argentine publications to the staff. Magazines and newspapers are included.

New Buildings--Dr. MacQuarrie Tells All

By DAVE WEBSTER

Over a coke in the Co-op last week we got to talking with Dr. Robert Rhodes about planned additions to the Student Union. We mentioned the proposed cafeteria, and then asked if the upstairs of the present building would be remodeled at the same time as the construction work was done.

Dr. Rhodes didn't know whether it could be done or not, but he suggested that if we wanted the information on the plans for new buildings to pass on through the paper we should see Dr. MacQuarrie.

VISITS PRESIDENT

"He has been the guiding light of the program and has done a great deal of work for which he deserves credit," said Dr. Rhodes.

So, yesterday morning we entered the president's office and explained the purpose of our visit.

Dr. MacQuarrie was very helpful. He began by telling us of the total allocation which had been earmarked for the building program by the State legislature. At pre-war building cost levels, $1,484,100 was the figure, but now, with costs up about 31 per cent, the total amount would be $1,929,530.

"Where would that money be spent?" was our next question.

Dr. MacQuarrie explained that the first construction would be the new Music building, to be located on what is now the San Carlos turf. It will cost $420,000, and will far outclass music department facilities at any other college on the Pacific coast. He got up and stepped into a closet to bring out the detail plans for the structure to show us. There will be a large concert hall surrounded by small individual practice rooms. The arms of the stubby "T" shaped building will be devoted to group rehearsal rooms, class rooms, offices and an organizational meeting room.

OTHER PLANS

Then we were shown a large plan of the over-all campus as far as Ninth street. Following the construction of the Music building, there will be a large addition to the Women's gymnasium, including a swimming pool of greater size than the existing one in the Men's gym. The library will have an addition on the Fourth street side; on the spot where the Music department now holds forth there will be a new Administration building, and at the back of the Morris Dailey auditorium will be constructed a new Speech wing and a complete new stage.

The college will take over the property of San Jose high school, including Technical high, and the latter buildings will probably be used as a corporation yard for college equipment and workshops. Around those buildings will rise a new engineering department, an "L" shaped series of buildings on the land where now stand Wachob hall, up to Eighth street and over to San Fernando. All the houses and lots in the four blocks directly above the campus will be bought and condemned, and someday Dr. MacQuarrie hopes to see perhaps $4,500,000 allocated by the legislature for construction of dormitories at the State colleges. For $1,080,000 he believes San Jose State could construct two dormitories to house 400 women and 200 men.

We finally found time to ask about what would be done to enlarge the Student Union, and were shown on the plans the large addition to be made on the Fourth street side, to include a cafeteria, with the Spartan Shop moved to the new section and the whole basement of the present building devoted to the fountain.

When would all this planning begin to take form?

"I believe only God in Heaven knows for certain," we were told. "Probably not immediately, even though the war is now over."

Fr. Schirle Talks

Father George V. Schirle will recommend a list of books at the Newman club meeting tonight.

Following Father Schirle's discussion, there will be games and dancing, and cokes to drink.

The meeting will take place in Newman Hall at 7:30.

Tri Sigma Elects Rosemary Bonnot

Tri Sigma, Social Service club, held its first evening meeting of the year, Tuesday, at the Student Center.

The purpose of the meeting was to hold a "get acquainted party," and to plan future meetings.

Rosemary Bonnot was elected secretary-treasurer, to replace the former officer, Barbara Nafziger. Other officers are Kit McNeil, president, and Arlene Vivier, vice-president. Mr. Milton Rendahl is the faculty adviser for the group.

Those present at the meeting were Catharine Caillan, Stuart Cody, Marietta Dodge, Nannette Drew, Walter Woodman, Joyce Cohen, Bruce McNeil, Louise Chabre, Marilyn Merrill, George Schroeder, Jo Mead, Minta Fishelson, Jean Glives, Muriel Waltz, Barbara Stoff, Loretta Fox, Mary Ann Duus, Ruth Reybock, Doris Helin, Rosemary Bonnot, Arlene Vivier, Kit McNeil, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Rendahl.

INDIANS SUBJECT OF NEW DISPLAY

On exhibit this week in the Education Reading Room of the Library are pictures and books about Indian life and culture.

All phases of Indian life, traveling, dancing, fighting, and practical tasks as canoe-making, etc., are illustrated in pictures displayed on several bulletin boards around the walls of the room.

Books on Indian life, written for children of all ages, are exhibited. A few representatives of the group are "Dorcas, Indian Boy of Santa Clara", "Indians Today", and "The Book of Indian Crafts and Indian Lore".

FROSH WIN OVER ARMY ELEVEN HERE

end zone he was immediately tackled for a safety. When the gun sounded at the end of the first half the score stood 6-2 for the Spartans.

At the start of the third quarter the Indians from Las Vegas put on a drive that carried to the Spartan 15 yard line. Hill went back to pass for the Indians on the State 15, the ball sailed into the end zone where Archie Chagonjian momentarily intercepted for the Spartans. However the ball bounced out of his hands and into the intended receivers for a touchdown. It was somewhat of a fluke play but the Indians now had eight points on the scoreboard, their attempted conversion was blocked.

At the start of the fourth quarter the Indians went back to punt on third down, Chagonjian playing safety for the Spartans took the punt on his own 30 and with beautiful down field blocking went the entire 70 yards for a touchdown. However a clipping penalty on the Spartan 35 yard line nullified the play. The Indians then drove to the Spartan five yard line where they were held on downs.

It was then with but seven minutes remaining in the game that the gallant Spartans put on their game-winning drive. With the ball on their own 20 yard line, the Staters drove the entire 80 yards in five minutes playing time. Sparking the Spartan attack was Denevi at quarter, and Chagonjian and Concklin at the half back spots. Denevi started the drive with a beautiful 20 yard pass to Al Chasuk, left end for the Spartans. Davilla then ram-bled 10 yards for another first down.

Archie Chagonjian then went for a first down to the Indian 28. Concklin and Denevi together made another first down inside the Indian ten yard line. A few plays later, with the entire crowd on their feet, Chagonjian drove over from two yards out for the winning tally.

Dr. Yates Approves Campus Vets' Poll

"I am for the veteran in every respect. The poll question showing a majority of veterans planning to do graduate work indicates his desire to use his potentialities to the fullest. It is a selling point in the furtherance of education. It should be an inspiration to educators who have not gone the full length in their profession," she said.

Questions pertaining to marriage and engagements were asked to endeavor to see if educated servicemen had been among the many who went overboard in wartime marriages. Representatives in the poll indicate that veterans on campus had not been a part of this trend.

House Mothers

Shortly before Fall quarter opened an informal tea was held in the Student Union for college house mothers to discuss the housing facilities and problems confronting them with the return of college students.

Rrefreshments were served by Miss Ada Gardner, manager of the Spartan Shop.
